I. INTRODUCTION ...................................................................................................... 1

II. A Narrative of the Situational Context................................................................. 14
   II-1. Gender Inequality: Right Based Global Dimensions.................................... 15
   II-2. Gender Inequality in the Labor Market: Global Scenario ......................... 20
   II-3. Women’s Share of Public Sector Employment and Gender Equitable Jobs:
   Regional Assessment and Inter-country Variation .............................................. 28
   II-4. Women’s Socio-Economic and Employment Status in Pakistan ............... 31
   II-5. An Assessment of Recent Initiatives for Women’s Advancement in Pakistan 38
   II-6. Women and Public Sector Employment in Pakistan ................................. 42

III- Gender Issues: Theoretical Underpinnings and Empirical Findings.............. 47
   III-1. Gender Bias in Conventional Economic Theory and Need for Gender-
   Responsive Economic Analysis ........................................................................ 48
   III-2. Feminist Economic Scholarship and Fundamentals of Gender-Responsive
   Economic Analysis ............................................................................................... 63
   III-3. The Gender and Development Agenda and Public Sector Organizations..... 69
   III-4. Women’s Employment Concerns and Public Sector Organizations- Empirical
   Evidence ............................................................................................................... 79
      III-4-I. Evidence from Developed Countries ................................................... 79
      III-4-II. Evidence from Developing Countries ............................................... 83
      III-4-III. Evidence from Pakistan ................................................................. 86
IV. Methodology for Empirical Analysis

IV-1. Model and Data

IV-2. Delimitations

IV-3. Instrument Construction

IV-3-I. Perception of Work Environment Index (PWEI)

IV-3-I-i. Dimensions of PWEI

IV-3-I-ii. Refinement of PWEI

IV-3-I-iii. Reliability of PWEI

IV-3-II. Work Motivation and Commitment Index (WMCI)

IV-3-II-i. Dimensions of WMCI

IV-3-II-ii. Refinement of WMCI

IV-3-II-iii. Reliability of WMCI

IV-4. Variable Justification

V. Descriptive Analysis: Female Employment in Public Sector of Pakistan

V-1. Professional and Personal Profile of Respondents

V-1-I. Professional Profile

V-1-II. Personal Profile

V-2-I. Analysis of Descriptive Statistics

V-2-II. Analysis of Cross Tabulation
VI. Inferential Analysis Using ANOVA and Multiple Regression

VI-1. Description of ANOVA and Multiple Regression Model

VI-2. Testing Mean Difference in PWEI and its Sub-indices Using One Way ANOVA

VI-3. Testing Mean Difference in WMCI and its Sub-indices Using One Way ANOVA

VI-4. Regression Analysis with PWEI as Response Variable

VI-4-I. Personal Factors as Control Variables in Regression 1

VI-4-II. Organizational Factors as Predictor Variables in Regression 1

VI-4-III. Interpretation of Results of Regression 1

VI-5. Regression Analysis with WMCI as Response Variable

VI-5-I. Organizational Factors as Control Variables in Regression 2

VI-5-II. Personal Factors as Predictors in Regression 2

VI-5-III. Interpretation of Results of Regression 2

VII. Conclusion and Recommendations

VII -1. Specific Recommendations

VII -2. General Recommendations

VII-2-I. Gender- Responsive Recruitment Policy

VII-2-II. Gender- Responsive Training Policy

VII-2-III. Gender- Responsive Promotion Policy

VII-2-IV. Day-Care Facility and Ladies Rooms

VII-2-V. Provision of Transport Facility for Female Staff
VII-2-VI. Provision of Accommodation Facility for Female Staff ......................... 237
VII-2-VII. Flexible Time/ Reduced Time Options .................................................. 238
VII-2-VIII. Dealing with the Workplace Sexual Harassment Issue ....................... 240
VII-2-IX. Elected Staff Associations and their Gender Wings ............................ 242
VII-2-X. External Interventions for Gender Mainstreaming ................................. 244

REFERENCES ............................................................................................................. 248

APPENDIXES